Re: A P Lewis & Sons Ltd

I confirm that A P Lewis & Sons Ltd. Have completed a toilet extension and refurbishment work at Gretton Village Hall.

The job has been completed to our satisfaction and the effects make you feel you are entering a new building, although it is not.

The Hall had to be closed for 3 weeks for the insertion of suspended ceilings but this was planned from the beginning and was done once the school summer term finished when Hall bookings are at their minimum.

The service given was good and unexpected problems such as the level of windows in the old Hall being far from even because of earlier extensions was dealt with efficiently. The quality of work was good all round with good suggestions coming from the company like one for oiling wood veneer panelling instead of varnishing it being very welcome.

The final result has exceeded our expectations and the residents of the village seem very pleased with it.

The work area was kept tidy during the project and the final clearing up was good. It was made easier to use the Hall during most of the time since early April by building the toilets first and then using them while the former toilet areas were refurbished for new roles.

We are a charity and not registered for VAT and the company took trouble with the accounting to make it easy to claim grants from the three different bodies who helped finance the project.

We would certainly use A P Lewis again should we have another project.
